

We saved a company, plus more than 100 jobs.

Savannah All American Millwork and Fabrication manufactured metal and wood products for the restaurant, food service, healthcare, telecommunications and municipal markets. The company was in distress, putting more than 100 jobs at stake in Savannah, Tennessee.

BIG CHALLENGES

A private equity group had purchased the company, but the resulting debt burden was more than operations could support. Staying open was not an option.

BIG SHOULDERS

At BSC, we saw great potential in their business and its employees. We formed a joint venture to purchase the company's assets and add it to our portfolio of operating companies. We were confident that our experience in the metal fabrication industry, along with Savannah All American's people and products, could make the company successful. Now named Savannah Industrial Solutions, they are poised for growth and plan to add more employees.

We create big solutions with creativity and experience. To learn how we can help a business attain the best possible outcome, call us at 224.927.5330.

"We saw great potential in the skills and talents of the employees of Savannah All American and believed that if we properly capitalized the business, investing in the people of this community, we could create real value for customers and preserve those jobs."

Todd DiBenedetto
President, Big Shoulders Capital

When traditional financing sources lead to frustrating dead ends, Big Shoulders Capital can navigate a path forward. Big Shoulders Capital provides creative liquidity solutions for privately-owned commercial and industrial companies. We invest our own funds, so we aren't subject to fixed timelines. This means we can be patient, flexible and fast. Our solutions have supported thousands of employees in many industries including manufacturing, construction, trucking and oil field services.